Money Smart Week and RILA

Money Smart Week is a public awareness campaign to promote financial education across all age groups. Launched in 2002 by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, the program is now active nationally through partnerships with the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, United States Department of Agriculture Cooperative Extension, and the American Library Association.

The Rhode Island Library Association supports financial literacy education efforts through the Financial Literacy Roundtable. Through collaborative efforts between libraries, community organizations, and financial education partnerships with local businesses, RILA FLRT connects our communities to quality programs and services that support their financial goals.
